

PURPOSE: To create a MSMS joint calendar with test and quiz dates.

INTRODUCED BY: Samar Rahimi

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MISSISSIPPI SCHOOL FOR MATHEMATICS AND SCIENCE

SECTION ONE (REASONING):

When first arriving at MSMS, many students become overwhelmed with the number of tests and quizzes given by the school's curriculum. Every teacher has a different approach to their syllabus, with some having all their major test and quiz dates added and others having none at all. This causes students to become unsure when quizzes will occur, especially if they were not mentioned in class and only referenced in the syllabus. There could also be some issues in communication regarding when quizzes or tests will occur.

Giving students a joint calendar could serve as a reminder of important dates and help them better plan when to prepare for tests and quizzes. Teachers who do not have pre-planned test dates are often unsure which days would be best for the students, and a joint calendar for tests and quizzes could help them make those decisions. Parents would also appreciate having access to the calendar, since it would give them an idea of the workload given to the students and when their kids have busy weeks and weekends.

SECTION TWO (RESPONSES):

I asked three students the following question: "When you first came to MSMS, would a joint calendar with test and quiz dates have helped as a reminder for when to study?"

Response 1 (Anonymous):

"I think it's a great idea. When I first came here, I was confused to when there would be quizzes since some teachers didn't have them in their syllabus. A calendar would be easier to see when things are approaching."

Response 2 (Anonymous):

"Yes, if it was easy to understand and only my subjects were visible to me or if there was some way to limit what shows up on the calendar. That way the calendar isn't overwhelming to look at and things aren't as easy to miss."

Response 3 (Anonymous):

"Yeah, definitely. It would really help me out."

SECTION THREE (PROPOSED CHANGE):

Students who have work service under a specific teacher will be responsible for putting said teacher's test and quiz dates (as well as any other major deadlines) by following a consistent formatting to prevent any confusion. The calendar will have filters that will only show the dates for classes students are taking, preventing any confusion from occurring.
